GET READY FOR THE PATRIOTIC PICNIC!

JULY 2016 ISSUE • FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

DO YOU BELIEVE IN MIRACLES?!

BY REV. DR. RONALD SCATES • INTERIM SENIOR PASTOR

As part of our 170th anniversary celebration, your staff and Session will be meeting together in the fall in an attempt to prayerfully discern what Christ’s vision might be for FPC as we move forward in faith as the “newest/oldest Presbyterian church in town.” No matter what the Holy Spirit might reveal to us on that occasion, I’m convinced that four “E’s” must be in place in order to faithfully fulfill the vision: we must be “Evangelistic” (not just evangelical), we must be “Entrepreneurial,” we must be “Energized,” and everything must be done with “Excellence.”

Two months ago, I unpacked for you what some of the ramifications might be if FPC became a more intentionally evangelistic congregation (Can any church not do that and claim to take The Great Commission seriously?). This month, let’s talk “entrepreneurial.” One of the core values of our new denomination—The Evangelical Covenant Order of Presbyterians—is that of being “entrepreneurial.” The denomination is all about encouraging partner churches to create “permission-granting”—rather than “restrictive”—cultures in every local congregation. This is to cultivate an “entrepreneurial spirit,” a spirit where everyone at FPC is dreaming big, not afraid to think outside the box, and willing to take a risk—and even fail—in order to advance the Kingdom of God through our congregational life and ministries across San Antonio and around the world.

Another way of putting it: a prayer-initiated passion to take some faith-driven risks in order to glorify God. Thus, as we move through our 170th anniversary year, and into an extremely bright future, we rid our vocabulary of “The Seven Last Words of The Church:” we’ve never done it that way before. As San Antonio comes up on her 300th anniversary in 2018, and finds herself presently in the swirl of the greatest downtown renaissance she has ever seen, look where the Lord has positioned us—right smack-dab in the epicenter of it all. “What if we _____?” “What if we _____?” “What if we _____?” That’s the way we all need to start thinking—but not taking risks just for the sake of being “edgy.” No, we need faith-driven risk, passionate ideas fueled by the Holy Spirit and God’s Word. With entrepreneurs, it’s never about the “bottom line” (“How much money do we have?”), but by “Just how BIG is our God?”

Now, don’t panic! This does not mean that we throw out 170 years of some really good FPC traditions. It’s more about: “Let’s create some new ones!” One of the new traditions that is emerging—or rather, thrusting itself upon us—is that of “church planting.” Did you know that more people come to Christ through planting new churches than by any other means of evangelism? Groups of folks from around South Texas have been contacting FPC—out of the blue—and asking us if we would be interested in helping them get planted as brand new ECO congregations. We believe this is one of those “faith-driven risks,” that the Lord is calling us to take, so we’ve said, “Yes”. To carry this out, we’ve replaced our traditional “Church Relations Committee” with a brand-spanking new “Church Planting Committee” (If you’ve got a passion for church planting and would like to help some new congregations get off the ground, call Dave West and let him know). It’s risky, but what if the Lord is calling us to plant, say, 10 churches over the coming decade? How might that enhance what Christ is up to in San Antonio?

In the entrepreneurial church, no idea is too big, and no question too dumb. Friends, we’ve been set free to dream big, not in a spiritually prideful way, but in ways that humble us when we begin to see just how big and loving nd gracious our Heavenly Father truly is. Are you ready to trust Him—and take some risks?

PATHWAYS TO HOPE

Help FPC Local Missions meet the challenge to support a free major event on the role of the faith community in mental health.

FPC’s Mental Hope Ministry and the San Antonio faith community will facilitate a city-wide conference at the Tobin Center for the Performing Arts, to address mental health in our community. For the first time, the faith community will come together with the health care community and broader San Antonio community to discuss this issue.

The keynote speaker Kay Warren (wife of Pastor Rick Warren), who lost their son Matthew to suicide in 2013, will be joined by several national and local experts within mental health care, social services and supportive housing and employment, who will speak about how San Antonio is working to improve the mental health care system and the path to recovery for people living with a mental illness.

The conference will focus on building new partnerships with the faith community to break the stigma of mental illness and to provide hope. For more information or to register, visit the conference web site at www.pathwaystohope.net or contact Doug Beach (doug.beach@ymail.com).

PATRIOTIC PICNIC

BUILDING COMMUNITY

THE EASY WAY: FOOD!

BY KAY KUTCHINS

Our annual Patriotic Picnic has been an enjoyable after-church fellowship opportunity that has attracted traditional and contemporary worshippers, oldsters and youngsters, guests of members, and some of the best cooks in San Antonio. And this year's event will follow the July 3 worship service, with food service and seating in Westminster Hall and elsewhere in the church property.

A bit of background:

Your Sanctuary Choir—35 voices under the direction of Tom Dooling and accompanied by Dr. Jae Ha's organ excellence—is the unseen but always heard part of the FPC worship team. A number of years ago, we decided to become more "visible" by sponsoring a Fourth of July picnic on a Sunday when July 4 was actually a Sunday. Over 300 people brought food, stayed to eat, and told us they hoped the picnic would become a "tradition."

The next year our friends in the KEYS older adult ministry added their annual ice cream social to the picnic menu—ice cream with all types of toppings plus scrumptious desserts. Attendance increased to over 450, and a great partnership was established.

We're on our way to hosting this year's event. And YOU are a major part of the event. We need you to plan to stay for food and fellowship. We'll have chicken and an assortment of side dishes, and we know that YOU FPC cooks can be counted on to add family-sized salads, hot dishes (e.g. beans, scalloped potatoes, veggies), and dessert items (cakes, cookies, pies, etc.) to the menu. FPC will provide water, lemonade, and coffee. We'll have people at the Avenue E entrance to take your food items before you attend Sunday School or worship services. We'll have choir and KEYS representatives to show the way to food and seating. And we'll all enjoy getting to know you during the picnic.

Plan to join us...to enjoy the food and camaraderie...and to be thankful for our blessings.

SA READS

School may be out but, SA Reads is not taking a vacation! KEYS member Jane Warren reports, "We're continuing right on through the summer to prepare donated books for distribution to underserved children."

As has been found by SA Reads and other local literacy programs, at least one half of the youngsters in needy school districts have NO books in their homes. So, the joy of reading, in addition to the necessity for reading for learning, is not being encouraged or facilitated. As Harold Black said recently, "When I gave my reading buddy at Arnold Elementary a book to take home, the child told me it was His very first book of his own". What a pleasure it was for Harold to share in that child's elation at receiving a book and being able to keep it as their own.

The work for our volunteers is not demanding – we thoroughly enjoy the fellowship around the tables – but it is so needed and worthwhile. Come and join us at Firstmark Credit Union on Gulfdale, the first Tuesday of each month from 9 – 12. For more information please contact Jane Warren at 493-5187.

FIRST PRES RENNOVATION CORNER

First Pres is taking the initiative this summer to make much-needed maintenance improvements and upgrades to your facility and environment. All activity, fully funded through existing capital improvement and special funds, is yet another reason to celebrate 170 years in San Antonio and the beautiful location we have at 4th and Alamo!

RENOVATED COURTYARD FOUNTAIN FLOWS AGAIN!

Our Courtyard Fountain, a staple of the church since 1988, is now fully repaired and in beautiful condition as we move into summer.

The extensive improvements included:

- Cleaning the water feature and basin to prep for refinishing
- Cleaning the tile that surrounds the water feature
- Removing and replacing all mechanical equipment, including adding a UV light to the filtration system that will prevent the growth of algae and other microbes.
- Recoating the inside of the water feature and the basin back to the original color

Best news of all: Very little maintenance will be needed moving forward, allowing us to once again run the fountain daily during regular hours!

NEW LCD SCREENS GRACE THE HALLWAYS OF FIRST PRES

You have no doubt noticed the new Lobby desk display screen - highlighting daily events - which we added earlier this year, as well as our new portable screens for classrooms. The next phase of this state-of-art visual technology has begun, helping our members, prospects and visitors know what's happening at FPC!

We installed three new large screens this June, in the Mauze Lobby, at the Westminster Hall entrance at Nowlin Tower, and in the 3rd Floor lobby to greet guests off of the elevator! These screens will help promote our ongoing services, ministries and activities, as well as upcoming special events. Even better, integrated wireless technology allows us to develop and display content for each screen independently.

Additional screens are slated for the workroom entrance area, the Children's Center Lobby area, and a space to be determined near the Sanctuary.

We look forward to seeing you this summer and enjoy this new way to stay informed and engaged with your church family!

BEYOND THE STAINED GLASS | YOU ARE ENTERING YOUR MISSION FIELD | BY KEVIN DAILEY

Summer is here, in case you couldn't tell. The unsubtly of a Texas Summer is legendary. It doesn't meander its way into being either. One day, it's a lovely 80-degree day, the next you are living in an oven! Of course I knew summer was coming weeks before it actually did, as my daughters staged protests at getting up at 6:30 every morning, refused any more math worksheets and played more games at school in the last two weeks than they did the whole entire year.

Summer ushers in a new season in the life of a church as well. The regular schedule of Sunday school and youth group gives way to exciting events like Urban Plunge for Jr. High, VBS for the elementary kids, and (for some of us this year) a mission trip to Haiti. For many of the people on the team this will be their first mission trip. They will experience a unique myriad of emotions. They will see people who have lived a life they couldn't even imagine, and have lived through some of the greatest devastation we could know. As we go on this trip, to aide in building and caring for the children of the area, I know for a fact that the people of Haiti will bless us in much larger ways than we could ever hope to bless them.

Here is the cool thing, we don't have to go thousands of miles to be a missionary. The dictionary defines a missionary as one on a "religious mission," a person with a task, a direction. We don't need to leave the city of San Antonio to live out the beautiful task of Making Jesus Visible. This can happen in our own lives, in our offices and schools. At a restaurant or the grocery store, playing golf or hanging out with your neighbors.

I grew up in a ministry family. My father was a pastor, and many times, our summer vacations were spent doing ministry. I spent more than one summer doing tent revivals, street concerts. One summer we crossed Europe to attend a week with Teen Challenge in Sweden. At the church my father was pastor in England, a local artist had created a sign that hung above the door that exited the church. It said "You are now entering your mission field." That has always stuck with me, the knowledge that wherever we are, we are to be light in darkness, peace in chaos. We don't need to stand on the corner and try to proselytize the city of San Antonio. We can be conduits of change by living out our faith, being advocates for those without voices and truly loving our neighbors.

Take heart, enjoy the summer, you are now entering your mission field!

MOMENTS TO HOLD CLOSE | BRUSH UP | BY MANNY RODRIGUEZ

My younger brother and I grew up together in a very suburban lifestyle. So one week out of every summer we stayed with our grandparents on their farm to experience "country life." We loved it, so many different things that we would never get to do in the city. Some of the activities my grandfather would participate in with us included: taking us fishing to different livestock ponds, jumping barbed wire fences, tending the garden, shucking corn, attending livestock auctions, caring for the cows, making preserves and going to the river. We loved it all. Although there was one thing my grandfather did that we did not like. When we came inside the house for supper, he would wash our hands. He didn't just wash them, he had a stiff brush by the sink that he would apply bar soap to and would scrub our hands, finger nails, and arms all the way to our elbows. It was extremely painful—our skin was always red after he was done cleaning us. We never understood this process, back home it was sufficient to have our hands under a little running water and we were good to go. Why would he subject us to something like this especially if it hurt? He did it because he was a loving parent that understood after everything that we had been exposed to during the day, we were not clean enough. He needed to ensure that we had been properly sanitized so that we could enjoy what was coming next, even if it involved temporary discomfort. Our loving Father does the same thing, at times we do not understand the purpose for some of the pains that we endure, but often it is part of a purification process to prepare us for the great event that is coming next.

First Cup Readings – July, 2016

Dear Family in Christ,

First Cup is designed to assist you in the habit of daily Bible reading and prayer. The name is to remind you that as you reach for your first cup of morning coffee or tea, reach also for your Bible and prayer list. The prayers at the beginning of each week are taken from hymns, sometimes found in obscure hymnals in our libraries. They are intended to be read as your beginning prayer, to focus your mind on the daily readings that follow. May this spiritual discipline strengthen you as you face each day.

Blessings and love in Christ, Sandy Sturch & Claire Averyt

In the same way, the Spirit helps us in our weakness. We do not know what we ought to pray for, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us with groans that words cannot express. (Romans 8:26).
